Los Angeles Partner Cheryl L. Schreck has been recognized in the Daily Journal's "Top Women Lawyers" awards. Cheryl was one of 75 women attorneys in California honored in the award series, which features women across the state who have made a significant impact on the legal community. The publication profiled Cheryl's workplace investigations practice, highlighting the newfound importance of the practice since the #MeToo movement.

When asked if the #MeToo movement has prompted employers to be more sensitive and responsive to issues of harassment, Cheryl says: "Employers are definitely taking complaints like this more seriously. Not that they didn't in the past, but in a broader spectrum, even smaller issues they're looking at with a different eye."
