

Bringing It To You

(Labor Letter, April 2009)

As those of you on our mailing list know, because of the difficult economic times many companies everywhere are suffering, our firm has decided not to schedule our traditional national seminars in 2009. Instead, in a series of smaller breakfast briefings and webinars throughout the country, we are "bringing it to you."

Set out below is a schedule of the various webinars and breakfast briefings we will be presenting over the next two months. We will continue this pattern throughout the year. These dates and topics are also available on our website. Since we are adding topics and dates frequently, we urge you to check the website often for topics being presented in your area. Or, of course as always, check with your regular FP lawyer.
