Fisher Phillips Partner Speaks to New York Times on NLRB Classification of Student-Athletes

News
9.29.21

In an interview with The New York Times, Joseph Amabash discusses a new memo from the NLRB's general counsel that warns universities against "misclassifying such employees as mere 'student-athletes.'" "For employers, this is telling is that there's going to be a lot more litigation and a lot more vigorous enforcement of the N.L.R.A. against employers," Joseph says. Additionally, Joseph says this represents a stark departure from the previous administration: "There's a complete swing: under the Trump board there were many, many, many decisions that were favorable to employers. Under the Biden board they may reverse some decisions and make them more friendly to labor."

To read the article visit The New York Times.

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.

Related People

Joseph W. Ambash
Partner
617.532.9320
Email

Copyright © 2024 Fisher Phillips LLP. All Rights Reserved.

Service Focus

Labor Relations

Industry Focus

Sports

Related Offices

Boston

Copyright © 2024 Fisher Phillips LLP. All Rights Reserved.