

Identifying Wage Compliance Challenges for Cannabis Businesses

Publication

9.08.21

In a bylined article published in Hemp Industry Daily, Joshua Nadreau and Lisa McGlynn discuss how the FLSA applies to the cannabis industry. Josh and Lisa advise that employers should first get clarity on the different applicable federal, state and local laws. Additionally, they advise employers to be careful on how they identify contractors and employees, and to understand how overtime applies to different workers. They also advise employers to keep clear records of employees' time. "With the U.S. Department of Labor vigorously enforcing the FLSA, state and local laws and regulations constantly expanding employees' rights, and wage and hour class and collective action cases proliferating across the country, compliance is more critical than ever."

To read the article visit Hemp Industry Daily.

Related People

Joshua D. Nadreau
Regional Managing Partner and Vice Chair, Labor Relations Group
617.722.0044
Email

Lisa A. McGlynn

Partner

813.769.7518

Email

Service Focus

Wage and Hour

Industry Focus

Cannabis

Related Offices

Boston

Tampa