

2017 Ask-A-Lawyer Day Is Saturday, April 22

The Young Lawyers Division of the North Carolina Bar Association is pleased to provide free legal consultation to citizens through the annual Ask-A-Lawyer Day.

Ask-A-Lawyer Day 2017 will take place Saturday, April 22, at seven locations across the state. This is a public service event whereby volunteer attorneys provide free legal consultation to North Carolina residents. No business relationship may be established between the volunteer attorneys and the residents. It is a completely free service.

Attorneys will be available to answer questions at the following locations: Burlington, Burnsville, Chapel Hill, Charlotte, Greensboro, Raleigh/Cary and Wilmington.

To avoid confusion, please note that this event is different than the North Carolina Bar Association's 4ALL Statewide Service Day, which is conducted annually by phone on the first Friday in March.

Ask-A-Lawyer Day 2017 is coordinated by the YLD's Community Relations Committee, which is co-chaired by Andrew R. Jones of Rountree Losee, LLP in Wilmington and Sidney Minter of Fisher & Phillips, LLP in Charlotte.
