U.S. SUPREME COURT REJECTS CLASS-ACTION SUIT AGAINST COMCAST

News

Mar 28, 2013

Philadelphia Partner Todd Ewan was quoted on March 28 by Newsworks in an article about the recent lawsuit against Comcast entitled, "U.S. Supreme Court Rejects Class-Action Suit Against Comcast." Todd said that while the giant class of potential litigants may not notice, it was a big day for corporate lawyers. "I don't know if you've ever been on the receiving end of a class action settlement check, but I've heard of them where you get a check for a penny or a check for 10 cents or a check for 11 cents," Todd said. "That's never going to be incentive for you, from a pure economic standpoint, to pursue that case."
