

Conde Nast Might Be 1st Of Many To End Internships

News

10.23.13

An October 23 article, "Conde Nast Might Be 1st Of Many To End Internships" in Law360 quoted Atlanta Partner John Thompson.

The article noted Conde Nast's recent decision to end an internship program and the likelihood of other employers following suit.

"I do fully expect there to be far fewer internships as a result of all these claims and all this litigation," John said. "I think a lot of these entities are going to be disinclined to run the risk of claims arising out these internships, whether they are paid or unpaid."

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.