Fisher Phillips announced that Samuel Lillard has joined the firm's Columbus, Ohio, office as Of Counsel, bringing a more than 20-year law practice that focuses on general labor and employment litigation, arbitration and mediation. He had previously been a member with McNees Wallace & Nurick.

"Our clients will benefit from Sam joining us because of his experience, knowledge and client-centric approach to practicing law," said Steve Loewengart, managing partner for the Columbus office of Fisher Phillips. "Having Sam on board will also allow us to continue to strengthen our rapidly growing presence here in Central Ohio."

Throughout his career, Lillard has counseled clients on different employment law matters including employment policies, the Family and Medical Leave Act, wage-hour matters and non-compete and nondisclosure agreements.

The University of Dayton and the University of Cincinnati College of Law graduate has been named to Ohio Super Lawyers® and is an Ohio State Bar Association Board Certified Labor and Employment Law Specialist.
