Kim Thompson was quoted in Computer World on November 21, 2014. The article "Obama Immigration Plan Called Vague, Frustrating" discussed how the immigration reform that President Obama announced has left people on all sides of the tech immigration issue uncertain and frustrated.

"In a way, everything is up in the air," said Kim. It could be four to six months before all the immigration issues that Obama raised are sorted out by federal agencies, Kim added.
