

Five States That Could Be The Next 'Right To Work' Hot Spots

News

3.10.15

Steve Bernstein was quoted in Law360 on March 10, 2015. The article “Five States That Could Be The Next 'Right To Work' Hot Spots” discussed why Wisconsin becoming the 25th “right to work state” is expected to encourage a push for similar legislation elsewhere.

Steve said the number 25 had potent symbolic value.

“I do think that it will operate to embolden the right to work movement,” Steve said of the Wisconsin law. “You begin to see the other side of that tunnel, and it’s probably easier for supporters to visualize a day when virtually the entire country is right to work.”

To read the full article, please visit Law360.

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.

Related People

Steven M. Bernstein
Regional Managing Partner and Labor Relations Group Co-Chair
813.769.7513
Email

