Jaklyn Wrigley was featured in Mississippi Business Journal on November 2, 2015. The article “2015 50 Leading Business Women in Mississippi” introduced the 2015 class vying for next year’s top business honors. Below is an excerpt from Jaklyn’s write up:

To work smarter, not harder, is a philosophy that Jaklyn Wrigley espouses with vigor. Representing clients throughout Mississippi and Florida, the Pascagoula attorney litigates mostly employment-related disputes, including wrongful discharge and Title VII. A member of Fisher Phillips law firm, Wrigley formerly practiced with Jones Walker. She received her law degree summa cum laude from the University of Mississippi School of Law after graduation from Ole Miss. A strong legal writer, Wrigley frequently submits briefs and other filings with a high success rate. Outside the legal community, she is a member of the Ocean Springs Economic Development Council and the city’s Film Task Force. Additionally, Wrigley sits on the Walter Anderson Museum of Art board of trustees and is president of the Harrison County Young Layers. Married with one child, Wrigley enjoys running, practicing yoga and reading.
