ATLANTA, GA (March 14, 2016) – Fisher Phillips partner Howard Mavity has been recognized as a Top Author in the 2016 JD Supra Readers' Choice Awards, which acknowledges top authors for their thought leadership writing. Mavity was selected from among thousands of published authors for the level of visibility and engagement he attained with readers in the construction industry.

This is the first annual JD Supra Readers' Choice Awards, which represent 26 specific industries as well as 10 cross-industry topics. JD Supra is a daily source for legal intelligence on all topics business and personal. Its content is published and distributed daily by lawyers and law firms, including articles, updates, alerts, news, blog posts, and legal commentary on numerous topics across all industries and fields.

"It's an honor to be included in this prestigious list along with so many talented lawyers from across the United States," said Mavity. "I look forward to continuing to provide insight and articles on legal issues for JD Supra and its audience."

Mavity founded and co-chairs Fisher Phillips' Workplace Safety and Catastrophe Management Practice Group. He draws upon his vast business experience in transportation, logistics, construction, and industrial supply to work with clients as a business partner, and focuses on eliminating employee problems by commonsense management. Mavity has provided counsel for over 225 occasions of union activity, guided unionized companies, and has managed about 500 OSHA fatality cases in construction and general industry, ranging from dust explosions to building collapses, in virtually every state.
