

Employee Suit Ruling Could Be Win for Uber

News

9.07.16

The article, “Employee Suit Ruling Could Be Win for Uber,” featured in USA Today, discussed how an appeals court in California handed Uber a potentially significant win in one of its legal battles with drivers while leaving open the question of whether Uber drivers are employees or contract workers.

“This is a significant victory for Uber,” said Lonnie Giamela.

The decision isn’t about Uber’s more high-profile wage reimbursement case, but a related case about how the company conducts background checks of its drivers. The decision could spill over into other cases, say employment law attorneys.
