

What You Had to Say About K-12 Policy and the Election

News

1.25.17

In the article "What You Had to Say About K-12 Policy and the Election," featured in Education Week on January 19, 2017, Sarah Moore provides insight on the importance of educational institutions continuing to do what is morally right and legally required to keep education access equal.

To read the full article, please visit Education Week.

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.