

Travel Ban Poses Risks to Employers

News

1.31.17

In the article, "Travel Ban Poses Risks to Employers," featured in Business Insurance, Scott Fanning speaks on the risk that employers face due to the executive order signed by President Donald Trump shutting the borders to refugees and others from several largely Muslim countries.

Employees from these seven countries are being warned to reschedule their travel, and that if they go abroad and try to come back in they are likely to "face significant delay," said Fanning.
