

Trump Immigration Orders Could Deprive Local High-Tech Companies of Foreign Workers

News
2.08.17

In the article, "Trump Immigration Orders Could Deprive Local High-Tech Companies of Foreign Workers," featured on KIRO-TV , Attorney Davis Bae discusses the impact of Trump's immigration order on local tech companies.

"There are plenty of studies that show that companies started by foreign nationals, companies that hire foreign nationals tend to be the most successful and hire the most U.S. workers," said Seattle immigration attorney Davis Bae.

"There's going to be a problem with talent" for local companies, Bae said.

To view and read the full article, please visit KIRO-TV.

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.

Related People

Davis C. Bae
Regional Managing Partner
206.693.5060
Email

Service Focus

Immigration