

How Might the New Administration and Congress Impact Employers?

News
2.17.17

In the article, "How Might the New Administration and Congress Impact Employers?" featured on Monster.com, Attorney David Lichtenberg discusses what the new administration and congress might mean for employers.

"My clients are calling frequently, asking what does this all mean?" says David Lichtenberg, a management attorney and partner at law firm Fisher Phillips.

Legal and regulatory changes are possible on many fronts, but a handful of Federal agencies are prominently in play. "If we take Trump at his word, it will be immigration, labor relations and the makeup of the Supreme Court," Lichtenberg says.

"There will be an increase in I-9 audits," Lichtenberg says.

"If Trump's nominee for secretary of labor is any indication, there will be a radical shift from Obama's NLRB," says Lichtenberg.

To read the full article, please visit Monster.com.

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.

Related People

David B. Lichtenberg
Regional Managing Partner
908.516.1056
Email