

Insights, News & Events

LAWYERS ARE BACK: THE GREAT RESTRUCTURING

News

May 1, 2017

Law firms are being forced to change their old ways of doing business due to two factors; new technologies and the rise of millennial attorneys in the workforce. In the article, "Lawyers Are Back: The Great Restructuring," featured in Oregon Business, Attorney Rich Meneghello comments on these two trends that are driving the modern law firm forward.

The on-call nature of modern legal work versus the more leisurely sensibility of younger legal eagles can lead to conflict, says Meneghello.

"Some people need immediate answers; some think people need to be more flexible," he says in an oblique reference to the next generation. "Sometimes it causes issues with clients."

To read the full article, please visit Oregon Business.

Related People

Richard R. Meneghello

Chief Content Officer

503.205.8044