

TRSA Members Engage at Workforce Management, Safety Summits

News
5.02.17

This past April, the Textile Rental Services Association (TRSA) hosted its Workforce Management and Safety Summit; each featuring a day of keynote speakers and workshop sessions. Partner Joe Shelton concluded the event with a workshop on the topic "from termination to trial."

Attendees watched video clips as a fictional employee was terminated from a job, sued the company for discrimination and then went to trial.

The workshop put attendees in the position of the jury in order to figure out what the fictional company's human resources did right—and didn't do right.
