IMMIGRATION LAW AND PRACTICE: CHALLENGES AND OPPORTUNITIES UNDER THE NEW ADMINISTRATION

News

Aug 3, 2017

In the article, "Immigration Law and Practice: Challenges and Opportunities Under the New Administration," featured in Paralegal Today, Partner David Jones provides commentary on the uncertainties employers face due to the immigration law changes under the Trump administration.

Jones says the biggest challenge is the "general uncertainty of what could happen on a day-to-day basis."

He also says the potential changes make it difficult for employers to plan their hiring needs, especially those that rely heavily on foreign workers to fill specialty occupations in fields such as engineering and IT.
