Two partners in the Boston office of national labor and employment law firm Fisher Phillips have been listed in Massachusetts Super Lawyers for 2017 and two associates have been selected for inclusion in Massachusetts Rising Stars.

Listed in Super Lawyers were Joseph W. Ambash, the regional managing partner of Fisher Phillips, and Jeffrey A. Dretler. Ambash was honored in the Employment & Labor category while Dretler was recognized in the Employment Litigation: Defense category. Only 5 percent of Massachusetts lawyers were included in the Super Lawyers list.

Named for inclusion in Rising Stars were Joshua Nadreau and Monica Snyder. Nadreau was honored in the Employment & Labor category while Snyder was recognized in the Employment Litigation: Defense category. Only 2.5 percent of Massachusetts lawyers were included in the Rising Stars list.

The two lists are comprised of outstanding attorneys who have attained a high degree of peer recognition and professional achievement. The annual selections are made using a patented multiphase process that includes nominations, an independent research evaluation of candidates and peer reviews by practice area. To be eligible for inclusion in Rising Stars, a candidate must be either 40 years old or younger or in practice for 10 years or less.

The findings will be published in the local edition of Super Lawyers Magazine and in inserts and special advertising sections in local magazines and newspapers.

Super Lawyers, part of Thomson Reuters, is a research-driven, peer influenced rating service of outstanding lawyers who have attained a high degree of peer recognition and professional achievement.
