

Ex-Google Engineer Damore Sues Alleging Discrimination against White, Conservative Men

News

1.08.18

In the article “Ex-Google Engineer Damore Sues Alleging Discrimination Against White, Conservative Men” featured in USA Today, Jason Geller is quoted. He provides insight regarding the lawsuit filed by James Damore, the Google engineer who was fired after he penned a memo suggesting women were less biologically capable of software engineering. The lawsuit charges the company discriminates against white, conservative men.

The company could have “very legitimate, non-discriminatory reasons for which white men might not be hired,” said Jason.

To read the full article, please visit USA Today.

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.

Related People

Jason A. Geller
Regional Managing Partner
415.490.9020
Email

