

How Employers Who Hire Undocumented Workers are Dealing with Uptick in ICE Audits and Raids

News
2.14.18

89.3 KPCC interviewed Davis Bae on how employers should prepare for additional ICE raids. Employers may not even realize they have undocumented workers. He suggests employers do two things.

- Create a protocol so if ICE does show up, they do not become overly intrusive to the workplace.
- Do an internal review to identify where you might have people without documentation. Try to find a solution as humanely as possible. If you can't find a solution to correct the workforce, then at the very least make sure your I-9s have met the standard for the government.
