

Columbus Regional Managing Partner Emphasizes Bystander Training to Help Address Workplace Harassment

News

11.29.18

Sexual harassment reporting is up significantly in the last year. While harassment training is still important, antiquated training methods no longer work, Steve Loewengart said in an interview with Columbus Business First. Relevant training increasingly emphasizes bystander training that teaches employees to speak up if they witness workplace harassment.

To read the full article, visit Columbus Business First. (subscription required).

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.

Related People

Steven M. Loewengart
Regional Managing Partner
614.453.7606
Email