

Dallas Attorney Gives Employers a Guide for Managing Workplace Romances

News

1.28.19

Workplace romances are relatively commonplace, according to a recent Career Builder survey. Unfortunately, the demise of these relationships can adversely affect employee morale and productivity and may lead to claims of disparate treatment or sexual harassment. In an article for Law360, Dallas attorney Dana Chang Dikas gives employers guidance for effectively addressing workplace romances.

To read the article, visit Law360 (subscription required).

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.