

Fisher Phillips Attorney Discusses Measles Outbreak with SHRM

News

4.24.19

Can employers require vaccinations? That is the question SHRM posed to Atlanta partner Howard Mavity as the measles outbreak spreads across states. Healthcare employers typically require vaccinations or proof of immunity as a condition of employment, according to Howard, and, he noted that most schoolchildren must be immunized, so many employees can show proof of immunity years later. “Courts don’t closely scrutinize religious objections to immunizations,” he remarked.

To read the full article, visit SHRM.

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.

Related People

Howard A. Mavity

Partner

404.240.4204

Email