

NLRB Tackles Bargaining Orders, Bonuses In Latest Rulings

News

8.01.19

The NLRB has had a busy July, issuing rulings on bargaining orders, bonuses and violations of the National Labor Relations Act, to name a few. Law360 spoke with Steve Bernstein, partner and co-chair of the firm's Labor Relations practice for a breakdown of these rulings. He said, "The rulings are in line with the board's recent decisions delving into less high-profile areas of labor law while the agency works on its big-ticket initiatives." However, employers are still anticipating rulings in critical cases. "I think what's more significant to me is what we're still waiting on. The shoes that haven't dropped in particular [are] the rulemaking process when it comes to joint employer and the quickie election rule," Steve added.

To read the full article, visit Law360 (subscription required).

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.

Related People

Steven M. Bernstein
Regional Managing Partner and Labor Relations Group Co-Chair
813.769.7513
Email