ORLANDO (January 13, 2020) – Fisher Phillips, a national labor and employment law firm representing employers, announces the addition of Alex Desrosiers as an associate in the firm's Orlando office.

Alex provides litigation defense and counseling services to employers across Central Florida. He defends management against claims of discrimination, retaliation, harassment, wage and hour violations and restrictive covenant disputes and regularly counsels employers on pre-hire and onboarding matters, preparation of employee handbooks and policies, performance management, employee requests for leaves and accommodation, and compliance with changing local, state and federal employment laws. Alex joins from Littler Mendelson.

Alex received his J.D. from Roger Williams University School of Law and his B.S. from the University of Central Florida. He is licensed to practice in Florida, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.
