

The Wall Street Journal Turns to Fisher Phillips Attorney for Insight on Disability Laws for Churches

News

1.20.20

In most industries, federal laws protect workers with disabilities, including mental illness. Church, however, is an exception. In an interview with The Wall Street Journal, Atlanta partner Myra Creighton explains that the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) doesn't apply to faith leaders. "In 2012, the Supreme Court ruled in favor of a 'ministerial exception' to the ADA," she said. "It's religious freedom. Courts don't want to get into telling churches who they may hire or fire."

To read the full article, visit The Wall Street Journal.

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.

Related People

Myra K. Creighton

Partner

404.240.4285

Email