

How Can US Employers and In-House Counsel Prepare for Coronavirus Disruptions in the Workplace?

News

3.03.20

With the arrival of the coronavirus in the United States, employers and their in-house counsel are wondering what they can do to minimize the legal and/or financial risks to their businesses. In an interview with Corporate Counsel, Howard Mavity discussed what companies are doing to prepare for the inevitable workplace disruptions caused by the outbreak, and he provides some guidance on what steps U.S. employers and in-house counsel should be taking now to help minimize disruption down the road.

To read the article, visit Corporate Counsel (subscription required).

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.

Related People

Howard A. Mavity

Partner

404.240.4204

Email

Service Focus

