

Columbus Partner Comments on What Ohio Employers Can Do During COVID-19 To Help Them Emerge Stronger from the Pandemic

News

3.30.20

Columbus Business First wrote an article focused on the notion that Ohio employers can use the COVID-19 pandemic to re-evaluate their businesses and concentrate on ways they can emerge stronger on the other side of the public health crisis. In an interview for this article, Columbus partner Sam Lillard noted that “it’s a good time to look at leave policies and benefits.” Sam also added that with telework becoming the new normal, employers’ “telework policies could use a good look right now.”

To read the article, visit Columbus Business First (subscription required).

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.

Related Offices

Columbus