

Partner Discusses Workplace Safety During COVID-19 Pandemic

News

3.30.20

Business Insurance has been reporting on some of the major risk management concerns that have emerged for employers since the COVID-19 outbreak. In an interview with the publication, partner Kristin White offered insights on the March 13, 2020 revised guidance issued by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA). Kristin explained that OSHA “relaxed its fit-test standards for protective masks so that employers, such as those in health care who make good-faith efforts to comply with the guidance, will not be in violation of standards due to shortages in masks and other personal protective equipment.”
