

Labor Relations and Healthcare Partner Shares Her Experience of Joining Fisher Phillips Amid a Pandemic

News

4.17.20

Law360 spoke with attorneys across the U.S. who had recently made a career move amid the COVID-19. Among those attorneys was Letitia Silas, who joined Fisher Phillips' Labor Relations and Healthcare Practices in March. She shared with Law360 that upon her arrival to the firm, and because of her experience managing the workforce at a large complex organization, she was immediately brought into the firm's newly created COVID-19 Task Force to help clients navigate the pandemic.

Making a transition can bring it's own unexpected challenges, but for Letitia, she mastered onboarding and client work seamlessly. She said, "Even though I was doing onboarding, I was still answering questions from clients, writing articles for the labor group and the healthcare group." She explained that she her involvement on the Task Force has made her feel completely engaged.

To read the full article, visit *Law360* (subscription required).

---

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.

Service Focus

Labor Relations

Industry Focus

Healthcare