

Insights, News & Events

LABOR RELATIONS IN THE WAKE OF COVID-19: WHAT CAN MANUFACTURERS EXPECT?

Publication
Jun 18, 2020

Companies that survived the COVID-19 pandemic must prepare for a new wave of labor relations challenges in its wake. In an article published by the Kentucky Association of Manufacturers, Paul Goatley describes what manufacturers need to know to equip themselves to handle the new and growing threat of employees' COVID-19 related concerns and demands.

To read the article, visit The Goods on the Kentucky Association of Manufacturers' website.

Service Focus

Labor Relations