

How COVID-19 Impacts Employee Handbooks in New Jersey

Publication

8.05.20

In their article for New Jersey Business Magazine, Alvaro Hasani and Alyssa Musmanno break down the changes that employers in the Garden State should make to their employee handbooks in light of the current pandemic. They point to the need to update and add new workplace policies that address health and safety, telecommuting, new federal and state laws like the Families First Coronavirus Response Act (FFCRA) and New Jersey's Family Leave Act (NJFLA) and workplace posters and forms.
