

Advice for Managing Workplaces During Election Season

Publication

9.30.20

In a piece published in the Daily Journal of Commerce, Stephen Scott explains that employers should anticipate election-related issues to arise in their workplaces. He describes what employers need to know to get ahead of such issues and recommends that “now is the time to consider training supervisors and developing an action plan.”

To read the article, visit the Daily Journal of Commerce.

Related People

Stephen Scott

Partner

503.205.8094

Email