2:00 - 3:00 PM EST

In January 2021, President-Elect Biden can begin taking actions that will immediately impact employers. Given the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, the president-elect has already indicated that the planned changes include several designed to improve workplace safety, a key focus of the upcoming Biden administration. Although it is not easy to predict exactly what actions Biden will take once he gains control of the executive branch, this webinar will provide employers a discussion of changes that will most likely come about to the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), the agency charged with protecting America's workforce, over the next four years.

Join the Fisher Phillips Workplace Safety Practice Group leaders, Todd Logsdon and Travis Vance, for an important virtual discussion as they walk through what safety and OSHA developments to expect.
