

Insights, News & Events

WORKPLACE SAFETY LAWYER COMMENTS ON VIRGINIA'S COVID-19 EMERGENCY TEMPORARY STANDARD

News

Jul 28, 2020

In an interview with Construction Dive about Virginia's regulatory mandate regarding COVID-19 safety measures in the workplace, Nick Hulse explains why other states and the federal government may not enact similar emergency standards. He explains that "...states' ability to enact emergency standards depends on what their state statutes allow." He also adds that he "...thinks OSHA's position is that the rules in place are sufficient."

To read the article, visit Construction Dive.

Related People

Nicholas S. Hulse

Partner

704.778.4183

Service Focus

Workplace Safety

Related Offices

McLean