Fisher Phillips' COVID-19 Employment Litigation Tracker continues to be the go-to resource for reporters seeking information on the uptick of claims across the U.S. Cheddar and Risk Management recently referenced the firm's tracker and spoke with New York partner, Melissa Camire, and Senior Director of Knowledge Management, Evan Shenkman, in their coverage of the developing litigation trend. Melissa tells Cheddar that the uptick, and the fact that more cases are going into litigation, could be triggered by the reopening of the economy. She also thinks the case count will increase as courts reopen and lawyers become more accessible.
