The Phoenix Business Journal published an article by Shayna Balch entitled “How To Deal With Electronic Cigarettes In The Workplace.”

The acceptance of electronic cigarettes has become a very hazy issue for most workers and their employers over the past few years, Shayna wrote. While traditional tobacco products have been deemed hazardous for quite some time, the jury is still out on the effects of e-cigarettes and the impact they have on smokers and their co-workers.

Shayna offered some ways to manage e-cigarette usage at your workplace.
