

Louisville Partner Talks to SHRM about USERRA Leave

News

10.27.20

Employees who take time off for military service or training have certain job protections under the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA). In an interview with SHRM, Tim Weatherholt explains what employers should know about the USERRA with a reminder that all 50 states have their own laws governing military leave. Tim notes that “[e]mployers should carefully review state military leave laws because they vary widely and may provide broader protection than USERRA.”

To read the article, visit SHRM (subscription required).

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.

Related People

Timothy J. Weatherholt
Partner
502.561.3990
Email

Service Focus

Employee Leaves and Accommodations

Related Offices

Louisville