

Insights, News & Events

OHIO LAWYER DISCUSSES THE PANDEMIC'S IMPACT ON WORKERS' COMPENSATION CLAIM PROGRESSION

News
Dec 16, 2020

In an interview with Business Insurance, Meghan Delaney discusses the impacts the COVID-19 pandemic is having on workers' compensation claim progression. Meghan explains that the quick shift to telemedicine and virtual hearings has helped Ohio avoid many common delays amid the pandemic. She notes that, with her clients, she has been "very successful in wrapping up new and older claims." She adds that she and her colleagues have "...been able to aggressively pursue some of these settlements...and employers were looking at opportunities to close out some problem claims."

To read the article, visit Business Insurance.

Related People

Meghan Delaney

Partner

440.740.2116

Service Focus

Workers' Compensation and
Unemployment Cost
Management

Related Offices

Cleveland