

Best Practices For 'Bring Your Own Device' Policies

Publication

An article by Michael Elkon entitled “Best Practices For ‘Bring Your Own Device’ Policies,” was published in Risk Management Construction Executive Magazine and on Blog.SHRMAtlanta.org.

Michael explained that bring your own device situations are becoming increasingly common for employers.

Employers can save money when they are not providing electronic devices to their employees, Michael wrote. BYOD situations also benefit employees, as they often prefer to link up their own devices to a work system, creating a little node of personalization in an environment that they do not otherwise control.
