

Louisville Attorney Talks to Law.com About Her Path to Partnership

News
2.19.21

In a Q&A interview published on Law.com, Emily Litzinger discusses her path to partnership and describes the surprises, influences, and keys to her success along the way. She also provides an important piece of advice to other attorneys who are hoping to someday make partner: “Be adaptable and understand that there is no single right way to practice law. It is key to customize your approach based on each client’s needs. Adapt your strategy to ensure you are giving that client the best service.”
