Fisher Phillips recently announced the addition of Brian Balonick as Regional Managing Partner of the firm's Pittsburgh office. Upon his arrival Law360, Pittsburgh Business Times and The Legal Intelligencer spoke with Brian about what attracted him to Fisher Phillips. In the articles, Brian says the firm's national platform and one-stop-shop labor and employment capabilities were a big draw to expand the services he can offer his clients. He also notes the firm's COVID-19 response and continued growth in Pennsylvania were trends he was watching as he was looking to take that next step in his career.
