EMPLOYERS ROLLING UP THEIR SLEEVES: CURRENT COVID-19 VACCINE ISSUES, INCLUDING INCENTIVES

Event

Feb 9, 2021

12:00 - 1:00 PM EST

Increasing availability of the COVID-19 vaccine presents numerous questions for employers, well beyond whether they can legally require employees to take the shot. Is a vaccine mandate the right decision for my workplace? If employers do require vaccines, what are the current limitations on the requirement? What are employers' legal rights and obligations in implementing these decisions? And perhaps the hottest current issue of all, incentives. Specifically, how can I increase the vaccination rate in my workplace without mandating it? In a follow up to our initial COVID-19 vaccine presentations that began last fall, attorneys Phillip Bauknight, Raeann Burgo, and Kevin Troutman will discuss legal and practical issues that employers face in this continually evolving environment.
