John Mavros' article "'Tis the Season for Holiday Parties and End of Year Bonuses" was featured in Hotel Executive on December 31, 2015.

It's that time of year again-time to don ugly sweaters and drink rum-filled egg nog while socializing with co-workers at the company holiday party. This is also the time for heightened instances of sexual harassment and liability surrounding overtime pay and holiday bonuses. Around this time of joy and cheer, employers face an increased risk for employment law mishaps.

In the article, John provides a quick overview along with tips to make it through the season unscathed.
