

PROTECTING TRADE SECRETS IN THE REMOTE WORKPLACE

Publication
Mar 16, 2021

In a bylined article published in Law360, Jeffrey Csercsevits and Kelsey Beerer discuss steps employers should consider taking in order to protect their trade secrets with a remote workforce. They examine a recent trade secret case in Pennsylvania and the practical steps employers should take in light of this case to account for employee remote access to company trade secrets. Jeff and Kelsey continue by explaining that the court's ruling provides Pennsylvania employers with guidance on jurisdictional issues that should be considered when they are seeking to enforce their rights against a remote worker who leaves the company.

To read the article visit Law360 (subscription required).

Related People

Jeffrey M. Csercsevits

Partner

610.230.2159

Kelsey E. Schiappacasse

Partner

610.230.2184