

Fisher Phillips Partners Interview on U.S. Employment Laws Under Biden Administration

News

3.31.21

In an interview with NACS Magazine, the publication for The Association of Convenience & Fuel Retailing, Todd Logsdon, co-chair of Fisher Phillips' Workplace Safety practice, and Hagood Tighe, co-chair of the firm's Wage and Hour practice, discuss what changes retail employers can expect from the Biden administration. In the article they discuss the possibility of OSHA making permanent the current COVID-19 emergency standards and the potential for a federal paid leave program that would replace leave laws at the local level.

To read the article visit NACS Magazine (subscription required).

Please reach out to our Media team for any news inquiries.

Related People

J. Hagood Tighe

Partner

803.255.0000

Email

Todd B. Logsdon
Partner

502.561.3971
Email

Service Focus

Workplace Safety and Catastrophe Management
Wage and Hour

Related Offices

Columbia
Louisville