

Columbus Partner Shares Vaccine Insights with Ohio Chamber of Commerce

Publication

4.07.21

In an article published in Ohio Matters, Bob Robenalt discusses considerations for employers as they develop COVID-19 vaccine plans for their businesses. Bob starts the article with a discussion about whether employers should mandate – or simply encourage - vaccines for their employees. Either way, he explains that it's important for employers to develop a vaccine plan for their company, explaining that "a thoughtful plan of action can help ensure that everyone from senior management to frontline workers understands the company's perspective and policies on the vaccination process."

To read the article, visit the March/April 2021 issue of Ohio Matters.

Related People

Robert M. Robenalt

Partner

614.453.7611

Email

Related Offices

Columbus